Sheriff Warns Urban Cowboys About Roping

By CYNDI MADDOX

With cowboy boots and hats and riding mechanical bulls being the newest chic, it seems as though a group of local juveniles have added a new dimension to the "urban cowboy" craze. According to Coffee County Sheriff Brice Paul, the youngsters are trying out their rodeo skills by tossing mailboxes and then pulling them out of the ground.

Sheriff Paul said within the past month he has received more than 20 complaints of mailboxes being stolen or destroyed. He has already received six similar complaints this week.

"It appears that some juveniles are riding down the road, roping the mailboxes and then pulling them out of the ground," said Paul. "It might seem like fun at the time, but I'd like to remind them that tampering with mailboxes is a federal offense."

Most of the vandalism incidents have occurred north of Elba on the Brundidge, Troy, and Brantley highways.

According to the sheriff, the first incidents started out with the mailboxes apparently being run over with four-wheel drive vehicles, but now the vandals are trying their skills at roping. Paul said he found one uprooted mailbox with the rope still around it.

The sheriff's department also investigated two burglaries in the Curtis Community which occurred the end of last week. On Thursday, someone entered Cora McBride's house through a bathroom window and took approximately $35 in assorted change. On Saturday, the sheriff was called to Bud Scofield's store to investigate a burglary in which some change, knives, cigarettes, and a pair of gloves were stolen. Sheriff Paul said this burglar was apparently quite small since he entered the store through a space between burglar bars which was only seven and one-fourth inches wide. Fingerprints and footprints were taken at the scene and both cases are still under investigation.

Boyce To Leave Elba General; Accepts Teaching Position

Elba is losing one of its hard-earned young doctors, at least for a year. Dr. Jim Boyce has announced he is leaving Elba and accepting a position as assistant professor of anesthesiology at McMaster University in Hamilton, Ontario, Canada. Boyce is closing his office the last of July. He has also listed his home on Highland Drive with a local real estate agent.

When asked if this meant he was leaving Elba for good, Boyce said it did not. He pointed out that he owned some more land in the Highland Drive area that was ideally suited for homes. "A house can get wrecked with the wrong renter, but you can't tear up land very easily," he explained. "We are leaving for a year - that is sure. What happens after that will be decided later. We could stay at McMaster for one year or maybe two, or we could return to Elba or go somewhere else," Boyce said.

"This is the type practice I feel is right for me, wherever I go," Boyce said of his medical practice in Elba. He continued with "The university teaching position is good, but it lacks something that hands-on medicine gives me."

Boyce said when he came to Elba five years ago, he saw a need to be filled and felt he could fill this need. He was freshly board-certified in anesthesiology and felt with the prospective growth in the local medical community, he could stay proficient in this additional skill. To stay proficient would require the addition of considerable surgery at the local hospital, which hasn't occurred to its fullest potential; therefore he feels he must return to school to preserve his hard-earned skill and credibility as an anesthesiologist.

Dr. Boyce said he realizes this will create a doctor shortage, and when asked his opinion on what would solve the continuing medical manpower problems, and at the same time relieve the growing need for more medical services in the Elba area, Boyce said, "The solution I see to making health care improve in Elba is new blood and improvement to the plant." This means additional doctors and the completion of the long-discussed hospital-nursing home expansion.

Boyce also reported he thought the board should take an aggressive position on the day-to-day operation of the hospital, and he said he felt the people through the city council who appoints the board members, expected and deserved this type leadership from the board.

Jim Boyce, his wife, Linda, and children - Chris, Emily and Jacob - will leave for Canada in August.

REACHING TOWARD THE SKY--Robert Knighten's garden on Johnson Street has produced cornstalks that seem to be running a race in height with nearby pine trees. The tallest stalks, bearing pencil-cob corn, measured 12 feet, 4 inches. Knighten said he planted the corn in April and waters it once a week between rains. Taking a tour of the cornfield with their grandfather is Tonya and Kenneth King.

Repair Costs Continue To Rise For County Machinery

The Coffee County Commission met in regular session on Monday, June 22, at the courthouse in Enterprise, and heard County Engineer Charles Bowden report that continued work to repair the department's heavy machinery is getting more expensive every year.

Bowden presented a detailed study of the repair bills of six pieces of machinery for a three-year period and the total cost of repairs was $81,449.56. Individual repair bills ranged from $8,224.70 on a DMB bulldozer to $21,570.67 on a D6C bulldozer. The $81,000 repair bill seemed high until the engineer estimated it would cost approximately $600,000 to replace the machines with new equipment. The commission discussed the high cost of keeping the machinery repaired, but stated it had to be done, and told the engineer to get a machine now out of service back in working condition.

Monday's meeting actually began at 9:00 a.m., with the first order of business being the opening of bids for leads for a dragline. Bidding was Ray Brooks Machinery - $7,095; Joe Mooney Machinery - $7,760; and Leary & Owens Equipment Company - $7,750. The four no-bids were received. The commission accepted the low bid from Ray Brooks Machinery.

Two New Brockton residents met with the commission in an attempt to get roadwork done on the road leading to the Friendship Cemetery, near New Brockton. Police Chief Gordon Lueck stated the road was so bad a car couldn't get in, and when they did, a series of gates was hard to open. He also asked if the commission could do something about the gates. Attorney Warren Rowe, the county's legal advisor, read a deed brought by the two men and questioned the ownership of the land. He reported the church did not own the property on which the road lies and advised the commission not to do work on the road unless proper easement is acquired.

Revenue Commissioner Ronnie Burns addressed the commission on a series of matters. He told them he had bids on doing remodeling work needed to combine the tax assessor's and collector's offices at the courthouse in Elba, and passed them around for review. The commission told Burns that due to the bid law, formal invitations to 4-2, the commission agreed to send out invitations to bid on work to be done on both courthouses. Voting against the motion were Charlie Mack Martin and Billy Eagerton.

County Attorney Warren Rowe told the commission he had learned the attorneys in the suit to have a jail built in Enterprise, would ask the court to earmark the additional ad valorem taxes for use in financing the construction of the jail. He suggested the county hire a bonded company to complete work on the sales tax that was passed for use in the construction of the jail. He stated that by employing a bonding agency, it would concrete the county's position in the eyes of the court.

"I don't think the ad valorem tax should be earmarked to build a jail," said Rowe. "The sales tax is the means. There are plenty of other places the ad valorem tax can be used. I think everyone in the county should pay for the jail - not just a few property owners."

The commission instructed Rowe to check with several bonding agencies and set up a date for a meeting.

In other action at Monday's meeting, the commission:

passed a resolution honoring Maxine Bowdoin for her many years of service to the county;

discussed the increase in property taxes due to the new reappraisal plan, and voiced opposition to the plan;

approved an amendment to allow oversteering grass on a project site on County Road 14;

received a letter from the State Solid Waste Office which included a detailed study on operating costs of landfills;

approved a request by the engineer to reclassify an employee and give him a raise in salary;

was told by Engineer Bowden that a bridge on a rural road will be turned down on July 7 and construction on a new bridge will begin;

told the engineer to start moving the shoulders of county roads;

received a report that the old landfill in New Brockton would be officially closed out on June 23, except for grassing;

took no action on a request by the Mt. Pleasant-Battens Crossroads Water Authority to appoint Douglas Dowling to a 6-year term. (The commission stated it would only consider requests from the water authority's users, not board members);

approved payment of a bill for moving a pole on County Road 14;

was told the electric rate at the Farm Center would more than double until October 1;

voted to shut down county departments the weeks of July 4 and Christmas; and adjourned until July 6, in Elba.

School Board Opens Bids On New Elba Middle School Roof

By CYNDI MADDOX

Construction is expected to begin on the Elba Middle School roof within the next few weeks and should be finished before school begins in late August, hopefully ending a problem that has continuously plagued city school officials for almost 10 years.

Elba school board members voted unanimously Tuesday to accept a bid by Associated Builders Corporation to replace the middle school roof for $81,221. The Ozark company will have 40 days to complete the roof from the day they are officially notified of their bid acceptance.

Bids were submitted by five roofing companies and all were higher than the board expected. Luther Hill, a Montgomery architect who designed the new high school wing currently under construction, had estimated that a new roof would cost approximately $69,000. Hill said he thought that was a very liberal estimate, but there were many factors in removing the old roof, which might account for the increased roofing costs. "I thought we were high enough, but you just can't tell about this type construction," said Hill.

Other bids submitted were A-1 Roofing-$89,820; Hightower Company-$86,793; Esmac-$117,496; and Standard Roofing Company-$89,890.

Associated Builders is currently constructing the roof on the high school addition. Board Chairman J. Doug Kendrick told the board members to bring plans for obtaining and repaying money needed for the new roof when they attend the next meeting on July 7. Kendrick noted that the school board did not have the $69,000 that they originally thought the roof would cost, and "we sure don't have $81,000". The board has filed a $2.25 million lawsuit against Celotex Corporation, the company that installed the present roof at the school. According to Superintendent

Elmer Taylor, it has leaked since the school opened and Celotex has repeatedly failed to sufficiently repair the faulty roof. The suit cites four counts against Celotex and two of its employees, James M. Grady of Atlanta and Jerry Dyess of Mobile. It asks for $69,725 to cover the costs of replacing the roof, but Taylor said he hopes to have that count amended. The board is also seeking $250,000 to cover damages to the interior and insulation of the school. The final two counts in the suit accuses the three defendants of intentionally breaching a 1972 "roof inspection and service contract" and alleges that the defendants acted in bad faith by refusing to repair the roof. A sum of $1 million is being sought on each of those counts.

Claims Filed Against City Over Dog Poisoning, Shooting

Two more claims have been filed with the City of Elba by dog owners who have lost dogs recently. Both claims are for $500 each and indicate that "through neglect, carelessness, unskillfulness or wantonness, the owners of the dogs have been caused to lose the use, value and enjoyment of their dogs and have suffered emotional distress and mental anguish."

A claim filed by James Larry Sanders in the death of his dog, Buffy, was filed last week and Tuesday a similar claim was filed by Ronnie Vaughan following the June 12 death of his German Shepherd, Shamus.

Attorney Tom Head who represents both claimants, explained that Sanders' dog was shot, and that Vaughan's dog died of poisoning. The claims filed with the city do not point out that the city or any city employee was responsible for the death of the dogs. Instead, they said city and/or X-Y-Z. This, according to Head, is legal procedure and is the first step required in such cases.

One other claim has been filed with the city since the passing of a dog control law requiring all dogs be on leash or in pens. It was a $10,000 claim for a coon dog that reportedly died after being shot with a dart gun used to incapacitate him until he could be placed in the city pound.

City officials have declined to comment on either of the claims.

Horses To Be On Display

Thomas Lewis Williamson of Camilla, Georgia, will have some of his big prize mules, wagons, buggies and Clydesdale horses on display Sunday afternoon, June 28, from 2 p.m. until - at the Carol Marler farm on North Troy Highway.

Williamson was reared in the Damascus Community, and is married to the former Elizabeth Seymore, of Elba.

Court Ruling May Affect Magwood

Billy Joe Magwood, the 29-year-old black man convicted of murdering former Coffee County Sheriff Neil Grantham, will be sentenced by Circuit Court Judge Riley Green at 8:30 a.m. Tuesday, June 30 at the county courthouse in Elba.

An all-white Coffee County jury found Magwood guilty of murder earlier this month in the 1979 shooting of Grantham. At the time of the incident, Grantham was on duty as the county sheriff. The jury also recommended that Magwood die in Alabama's electric chair.

Green will either uphold the jury's recommendation Tuesday or sentence Magwood to life in prison without parole.

A decision handed down by the Alabama Court of Criminal Appeals earlier this week may have an effect on Magwood's case. The court ruled Tuesday that every person convicted under the state's original 1975 death penalty law must be granted new trials.

According to Jackson W. Stokes, the court-appointed defense attorney for Magwood, his client was tried under the 1975 death penalty law.

"It could be that we would ask the court for some relief under this new ruling. As I understand from reading the morning paper, everyone tried under this law must receive a new trial," said Stokes.

He said that he has not received a copy of the ruling yet, but expects to review it by the end of the week.

POOR ORIGINAL

Brainstorms

BY: FERRIN COX

Progress of the Elba business community continues with new business and remodeling continuing. Last week Pasquale's opened on the Troy Highway for the benefit of those who like Italian food. Also this week, work started on the previously announced Hardee's restaurant. Plans call for this facility to be open by late September. We looked over the plans for this building earlier this week and our limited knowledge of blueprints was impressed.

We must correct something we wrote here last week. We honestly reported what Richard Jacobs had said about his fishing ability, and just how fast he could catch a mess of fish. However, an avid reader of this newspaper reported that recently Richard went fishing at 5 a.m. and two and a half hours later he hadn't caught a single fish! Now that ain't the way Richard told us the first time around - but he now admits it took him a while to get started, but the trip was a success.

Last week we published the final legal notice that clears the way for the connector road and related bridges that connect the Kinston Highway, Brundidge Highway and all those in between on a northerly circle of town. Don't look for road builders in the next few months, but maybe they will start buying right-of-way in the next few months.

We checked on the status of the long-promised hospital and nursing home expansion this week, and there is hope for a positive announcement right away and possibly in two weeks. This will allow the hospital board to advertise for bids on the project, and opening a month later with construction beginning before the summer is over. We hope so, as the promises are getting a little thin on those making them, as well as those who have heard them for many months.

Ye ole editor has been to two weddings this month! That is more than I usually attend in a five-year period, but it was just unavoidable. Saturday at the Cooper-Dorsey wedding we sat behind some young men who had been bachelor-running-mates of Tommy Cooper's, and when Stacey's grandfather (the preacher) asked the routine question about anyone knowing why these two shouldn't be united in marriage, there was some movement and grins between the friends, but none of them spoke up with one last practical joke on their buddy. One of these days I am going to be at a wedding where this takes place, and while those doing it will be enjoying the activity, the couple and their families will feel like going through the floor. We suspect the bride will be tempted to commit murder... by torture.

Senator Denton is fast becoming known for his salty language, a reported carryover from his years in the Navy. Of course, we believe anyone who really wants to do so can control such language, but at the same time we are critical of the news reporters who don't use a little common sense during interviews. Those who try to impress their readers with the realism of the quotes by using every word of profanity and every "ain't no" statement used are covering an insecurity of their own. There "ain't no way" they would stay on my payroll long unless they could correct their writing.

CHRISTIAN PHILOSOPHY
"If you were of the world, the world would love its own; but because you are not of the world, but I chose you out of the world, therefore the world hates you." - John 15:19.

Perhaps the reason many of us so-called Christians fail to set aside the first day of the week as the Lord's Day and honor it by not doing business, making purchases, eating at restaurants, etc., is because of our lukewarm Christian philosophy.

Every living person has a working philosophy that determines his view of life, and its purpose, its meaning, and its destiny, even though he may not be aware of it. As a Christian, one must, of necessity, have a Christian philosophy distinct from non-Christian ways of life.

In the world today, many so-called Christian philosophies are actually philosophies of good work or good citizenship, with their basic assumptions usually founded on reason and human nature rather than faith in Jesus Christ. Even though Christian philosophy has many different essentials, the one that is commonly ignored is the imminent bodily return of the Lord Jesus Christ. This return of Christ was the sole hope of the early Church and has been the inspiration of many revivals in church history, and is still the hope of many Christians today who are under severe tribulations and persecutions. The various commonly known "Christian philosophies" are actually not Christian since they are not affected by this belief.

Is the commandment of our Lord that every Christian should pray and live every day as if it were the last day, since He may return at any time (Mark 13). Only when a

Candlelight Ceremony Unites Miss Farris And Mr. Coale

Miss Deborah Farris and Mr. Maury Coale were united in marriage on Saturday evening, June 6, at 7:30 in the evening in the sanctuary of Basin Baptist Church of Basin Community, The Rev. Lynwood Smith officiated at the double-ring formal ceremony, with the opulent splendor of the service being reflected in the stained glass windows.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James D. Farris of Basin Community, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Coale of Lenoir County, North Carolina.

A lively selection of pre-nuptial music was rendered by Mr. and Mrs. Larry Thompson and Mrs. Fay Row. From the Georgia: Mr. Tim Prince from Napoleon, Alabama, and Mr. Rick Martin from Marietta, Georgia. The traditional wedding march was played for the processional and recessional by Mrs. Joan Moore of Basin.

Guests entered the vestibule of the church where a table covered with white lace cloth with a pink underlay held one lighted burgundy taper with the picture of the bride and groom on it, surrounded with pink and burgundy silk flowers. Miss Joy Burkett of Earlytown registered the wedding guests at a beautifully-bound bride's book, with a pink-plumpled pen. A scroll with a wedding band on it, containing a message from the bride and groom on their wedding day, was given to each guest.

Vows were exchanged before the altar, magnificent in its elegant simplicity and the beauty of the sanctuary was enhanced by pale glow of candlelight from a central arch branched candelabra with long white burning tapers, accented with a large burgundy ribbon, wedding bells and two white doves. On each side of this was placed a 15-branched heart candelabra, each with long white burning tapers. Two large floral arrangements with silk pink and burgundy lilies, carnations, pink baby's breath and Boston ferns rested gracefully on white columns to the front of the altar.

In the center of the altar, a single prayer bench was adorned with boxes of white doves, large brass candle trees held 12 candles and graced the two doors leading from the altar area. Along the sides of the sanctuary, silks of the stained-glass windows held burning tapers which cast an enchanting glow over the sanctuary.

Ushers were Kris Bowdoin of Kinston, Phil Coale, brother of the groom; and Mike and Max Farris, brothers of the bride. Jeffrey Broxson and Tim Broxson, both of Columbia, Missouri, lighted the candles.

The family pews were marked with bouquets of pink silk roses with greenery tied with pink and burgundy satin ribbons.

The bride, radiantly lovely, entered the church on the arm of her father, by whom she was given away in marriage. She moved down the aisle with stately elegance, wearing an exquisite original white gown of white chiffon and re-embroidered tulle lace. The sweetheart bodice, covered in lace, was adorned with tear-drop and seed pearls with a sprinkle of sequins. A skirt of crystal pleated chiffon fell over the underskirt, bordered in matching lace and flowing into a chapel length train. The bishop sleeves of chiffon were cuffed with lace and pearls. For her bridal headpiece, Deborah chose a chapel length veil which the designed of matching lace and net with a wreath of pink and burgundy baby roses softly encircling the bride's head with ribbons tied in tiny love knots falling between layers of illusion. She wore a string of pearls that belonged to her grandmother, and a diamond pendant given to her on her wedding day by her brother, Mike.

She carried her bouquet on a white silk covered prayer book which was tied with pink and burgundy roses, baby's breath, and white and pink, and burgundy roses, rosebuds, lily of the valley, apple blossoms, gladioli with white satin streamers with love knots holding rose buds, and pearl hearts.

Mr. & Mrs. Coale

The bride carried out the tradition of "something old" by carrying a silk handkerchief sent to her Grandmother Johnson by her grandfather when he was in France during World War I.

"Something new" was a monogrammed handkerchief borrowed from the bride's mother, which she carried in her pocket. "Something blue" was a blue garter, the six pence in her shoe was from her father.

Mr. and Mrs. Linda Farris, sister-in-law from Basin Community, served as matrons of honor. Miss Reon Easley and Miss Melissa Mathews of Opp; Miss Rene Ham of Basin; Miss Patti Whigham of Lowry, and Miss Vonda Kay Farris of Montgomery, cousin of the bride, served as bridesmaids. Bridesmaids' dresses were identical gowns of organza and chiffon, with a double layer cape covering the V-neck bodice with inset white tulle. The long skirts were edged with a deep flounce, pulled up in back to form a bustle effect. Each bridesmaid carried an arrangement of silk pink and burgundy flowers of roses, baby's breath, carnations, and baby's breath in wicker baskets. The bridesmaids' train was decorated with pink and white streamers tied in love knots with pink baby's breath. The bride wore a comb decorated with pink baby's breath.

Little Miss Denise Farris, niece of the bride, served as flower girl. She wore a floor-length dress of pink organza, which had a ruffle at the neck and puffed sleeves. The skirt was edged with a deep ruffle pulled up in back to form a bustle, such as the attendants wore. She carried a wicker basket of pink and burgundy silk flowers. She also wore a dainty array of flowers in her hair, and a string of pearls that belonged to her grandmother, and a diamond pendant given to her on her wedding day by her brother, Mike.

Mr. James Coale of Earlytown served as best man for his groom. Groomsman were Jeffrey Broxson and Tim Broxson of Columbia, Missouri; Kris Bowdoin of Kinston; Mike and Max Farris, brothers of the bride; and Phil Coale, brother of the groom. They were attired in burgundy tuxedos and wore boutonnieres of white rosebuds tipped in pink. The groom wore a white tuxedo with accents of burgundy on the shirt. His boutonniere was of silk paradise rosebuds and baby's breath.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Farris chose a graceful floor-length gown of mauve quana knit. The gown featured a crystal pleated skirt and was enhanced by a lace bodice and matching jacket. Her corsage was a large white orchid. Mrs. Coale chose a light blue gown with chiffon overlay, and a large white orchid corsage. Mrs. Talmadge Spivey, the groom's maternal grandmother, and Mrs. Doreen Spivey, the groom's maternal grandmother, were seated at the head of the table, and Mrs. Spivey, the groom's maternal grandmother, was seated at the head of the table, and Mrs. Spivey, the groom's maternal grandmother, was seated at the head of the table.

Historical Society Needs Old Photos

The Geneva County Historical Society is in the process of gathering old photographs of people, places, houses, buildings, and social events related to the history of the county. Geneva County was once part of Dale and Coffee Counties until it became a separate county in 1868.

Anyone interested in this endeavor may contact any of the people listed: Mary Ellen Powell, Geneva, 684-2144; Elizabeth Mitchell, Geneva, 684-2911; Abbie Beck, Geneva, 684-9304; Ruth Smith, Geneva, 684-9775; Betty Palmer, Slocumb, 692-3397; Ruth Gibson, Samson, 898-7421; Joan Chaney, Hartford, 588-3786.

Energy Tips

To cut down on excess energy consumption during the summer months, ask the gas utility to turn off furnace pilot lights during hot weather and turn them back on at a temperature that is as hot as you can stand without scalding your hands.

Use fluorescent lights where suitable, including table lamps. They can provide the same amount of light as incandescent bulbs using only about one-third of the electricity, and lasting several times as long.

When buying cooling equipment or any new appliance, calculate the cost of the product based on its "lifetime." This includes the initial cost, the anticipated cost of repairs, and the cost of energy to run it during its life. Many times the unit that costs more initially will save money because of lower operating costs.

Avoid placing window air-conditioners on the sunny side of the house. The excess heat can strain the compressor and cause the unit to work harder. Shade central air-conditioner compressors with large shrubs or trellises.

Consider keeping storm windows on during the summer since they can provide a savings on air-conditioning bills and help maintain interior comfort levels. For further information on energy topics, contact the Alabama Energy Extension Service on weekdays at 1-800-452-5901.

Around The Town

Mrs. Nellie Martin

And the Lord God took the man, and put him into the garden of Eden to dress it and keep it. Genesis 2:15. Gardening is not exclusively restricted to the raising of plants. Gardening is a relatively informal and refers to the small scale cultivation of fruits and vegetables for personal use to cultivation of trees and shrubs as a source of pleasure or beauty.

Today many families are gardening in their backyards and even in their flower beds as a way to economize on grocery bills. But not altogether with my friend, Albert Carmichael, of Westley Chapel Community, Route 2, Enterprise.

Mr. Carmichael has a large plot of land near the family home in cultivation as a garden. He, being a garden enthusiast, not only for the standard plants and vegetables of this locality, but takes gardening as a hobby. He gets a supply of seed catalogs from many parts of the United States. From these he selects uncommon varieties of new or hybrid plants or seeds to plant in his garden just to try his luck.

Right at the present time he has some remarkable young dancers performing. Take his Deep Winter Squash. The vine is very much like our variety, however, it is much larger in height and size with the leaves somewhat larger, but still resemble a yellow-green. The squash is shaped like a long watermelon. Some when fully grown will weigh 150 lbs.

They are for human or animal consumption. The texture of the squash resembles that of a sweet potato. They too can be used or served as many ways as sweet potatoes. Another thing that's outstanding is the Pimento pepper. They are of unusual height with huge peppers hanging on bending limbs.

These are just two of the rare or extraordinary types of plants not commonly grown in our local. It takes a person with a "want to", plus a lot of ingenuity, patience and a willing attitude like Albert's, to remember that command that God gave man concerning the garden in Eden. His hobby is most productive. Albert is the son of Mr. Stephen Carmichael, and a favorite nephew of Mrs. Althea Prescott of Elba.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Scarborough and son Matt of Montgomery, spent several days in the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Will Scarborough, recently. From up Auburn way Jeff found time for a short visit. These folks were delighted to see their brand new nephew who made his appearance at the Coffee General Hospital, Enterprise. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Brooks of Brookdale. Judy is an efficient employee for Judge Terry Butts.

Mr. and Mrs. Fay Bowdoin enjoyed a weekend visit from their children. They were Danny, Joyce Ann, Shan and Graham, of Thomaston, Georgia. The Teels attended church with the Bowdoin on Sunday and renewed many friendships.

Enjoying the days outing were: Lena Fuller, Mrs. Neta Fuller, Mrs. Mary Alice Hooks, Mrs. Anna Stoumire, Mrs. Fancil Ammons, Mrs. Liza Smith, Mrs. Joyce Flowers, Mrs. Mozell McCormick, Mrs. Tucker, Mrs. Johnnie Belle Berry, Mrs. Vera Hudson and Mrs. Miriam Farris. This group of grateful ladies had a very busy, but an enjoyable day.

Monday morning is an ideal time of the week to start loading. So Miss Pearl, Mae S. and I took off to Montgomery. It was to downtown to Campbell on Dexter Avenue to buy a pair of Dr. Locke's shoes. However, no luck, they had to be ordered. These days there isn't too much to hold your interest in downtown. So we made it back to the Mall for lunch.

Perched in a accommodating place was my good friend, Dr. Ben Ringsdorf. That was a special treat for much time had elapsed since we last met.

To, I met one of Elba's popular hair dressers - she explained she was on her way to see her physician. Had I not looked a bit more - I possibly would have made other interesting discoveries. It just proved that Monday is a good time to start galivanting around.

Mrs. Carrie Jacobs looked refreshed and restful Sunday at Sunday School. Her secret she had spent a week with her sister in Armore. Mrs. Laura Knowles, Laura class reunion in Armore. 'Just give a woman a new style "hair-do" and it immediately elevates her personality. Yours was very attractive, Carrie.

Mrs. and Mrs. Edward Bean and sons Cary and Carl of White Springs, Maryland have spent a few weeks in and around this area. They visited with Edward's mother, Mrs. Lillie Bean, in Opp. To, Edward and Doris attended his Graduating Class reunion at the Enterprise High School. While here they attended the Maddox Reunion in Enterprise.

Cary and Carl flew back to Washington. Cary holds a responsible job with the Central Bureau of the U.S. Army. He is doing part-time summer work as well as working on college degree in Computer Science.

Neither I Nor My Nor Me! You cannot say the Lord's prayer, and even once say 'I'. You cannot pray the Lord's prayer, and even once say 'I'.

For when you pray the Lord's prayer, and even once say 'I'. Nor can you pray the Lord's prayer, and even once say 'I'. Nor can you pray the Lord's prayer, and even once say 'I'.

Consider the postage stamp! It secures success by sticking to one thing until it gets there.

Cindy Allen-David Smith To Marry The wedding of Miss Cindy Allen and Mr. David Smith will be solemnized this Saturday evening, June 27, at 7:30, at Woodland Grove Baptist Church.

The reception will follow at the home of the bride. All friends and relatives of the couple are invited.

Personal Mr. and Mrs. Dixie Henderson and Mrs. Elenora Hodges visited Mr. and Mrs. Thomas E. Cook in Shelby, N.C. from Saturday until Tuesday of last week. While there the group enjoyed sight seeing and the coolness of the mountain air.

Miller Receives M.D. Degree Thomas M. Miller, son of Dr. and Mrs. T.M. Miller of Elba, recently returned from an 11-week trip to Europe where he studied obstetrics at Queen Charlotte's Maternity Hospital in London and in Orebro, Sweden.

Miller received his medical degree from the University of South Alabama in absence on June 7. He was appointed for Alpha Omega Alpha medical honorary last year. Miller was also the recipient of a $3,000 annual merit scholarship from the State of Alabama and the E.L. Gibson Scholarship. Her personality was sparkling as usual - one thing lacking - I didn't get to see our girls Sherri and Karen. Strutting at speed limit down the Mall, I spotted one of Elba's popular druggists sitting it out - resting his shoes.

Miss Sherrer To Marry Mr. Moore

Mr. and Mrs. Howard C. Sherrer of Elba announced the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Janice Denise, to Michael L. Moore, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Leon Moore of Enterprise.

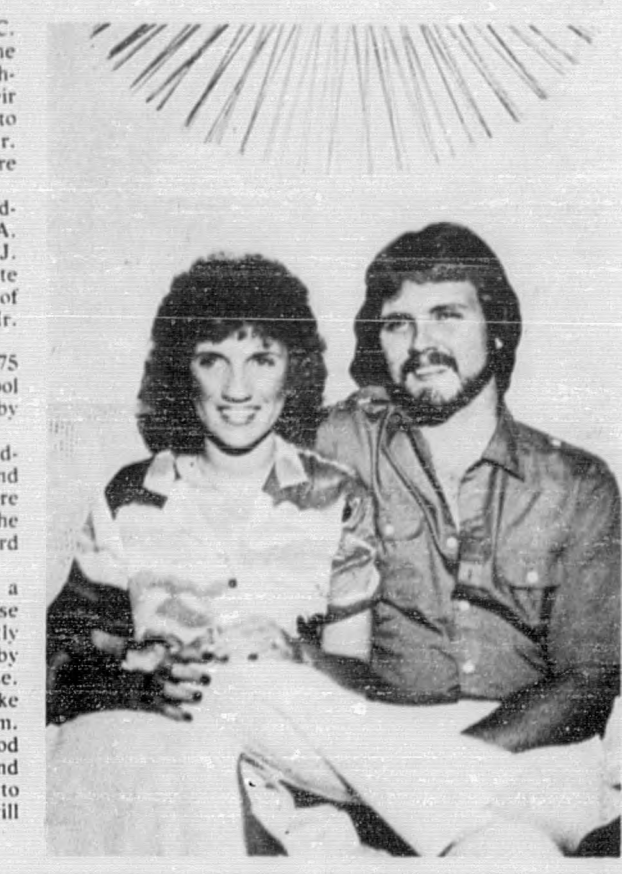

Ms. Sherrer is the granddaughter of Mrs. Essie A. Smith of Elba, and Mr. P.J. Smith of Opp, and the late Mrs. Maggie Sherrer of Enterprise and the late Mr. T.J. Sherrer of Graceland.

The bride-elect is a 1975 graduate of Elba High School and is presently employed by Coffee General Hospital.

FOR THE MONTH OF JUNE

The spacious and friendly home of Mrs. Gertrude Tucker, on Reese Avenue is a perfect setting for any enjoyable affair. Cindy Allen and David Smith, who are engaged, when they were honored by the Tuckers with an informal cookout.

Mrs. Tucker in her most efficient and gracious manner had everything arranged for the outside, held eye-catching floral arrangements and colorful napkins that added to the festive atmosphere. Guests were served, then seated. It was probably Mrs. Tucker's charming consideration that made everyone feel at ease, and enjoy the menu which was most delicious, most desirable, and most favorable.

Enjoying the hospitality, the friendship and the warm cheerful atmosphere with Cindy and David were another one of Elba's favorite engaged couples, Carl Fretwell and Ronnie Tucker.

However, it took some other special guests to keep things humming, like Betsy Branson, Dougie Martin, Ken Martin, Therell Wise, Steven Harrison, and Bill Simmons.

But for that blithe, cheerful, and lively feeling that added to the affair in a casual manner - it could not have been expressed by any other than Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Allen, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Smith, Sr. and the special hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Tucker.

The couple will reside in Augusta, Ga., where Dr. Jarvis is chief resident for Medical Student Education at the Medical College of Georgia. Mrs. Jarvis will continue her work as a consultant at the Community Hospital Oncology Program Memorial Medical Center in Savannah.

JUST TIRED—This Elba Scout wasn't bored with Doris Cooper's instructions on how to make a kite tail—she was simply exhausted. After a week of tramping up and down hills, jumping in and out of the lake, picking blackberries, and staying up most of the night Wednesday, many of the girls could not get past first gear by Friday morning. Mrs. Cooper has served as the day camp crafts director for the past several years. This year she led the Scouts in making hot pads and kites from newspaper, and bird cages.

Hills humming with sounds of Scouts

THE USUALLY QUIET woods at Humming Hills came to life last week as 125 girls from ages 7-17 and 50 adults gathered for Girls Scout Day Camp.

Troops from Elba and Enterprise converged on the wooded reservation near the Woodland Grove community for five days of craftswork, hiking, nature studies, swimming and canoeing in the lake, renewing old friendships and forming new ones.

The Girls Scouts were organized as a means of teaching girls the necessary skills for becoming young ladies. But through the years their purposes have become wider ranging, as the Scouting organization evolves into a tool for developing leadership abilities, providing a forum for community service activities, and still teaching the members skills and knowledge they need as they enter the teenage years and later into adulthood.

BRIGHT-EYED SCOUTS and sleep-eyed leaders arrived at Humming Hills at 8:30 each morning last week and remained at the reservation until 3 p.m. to spend the days enjoying outdoor adventures and completing steps for new badges. The days began with opening flag ceremonies and prayer. Then the troops went their separate ways, either to the lake, the craft hut, or to work in their individual troops on badges and other projects.

According to Fran Chesser, field director for the Coffee County Scouts, last week's blistering heat almost took its toll on the leaders, but on Friday, the girls were still moving full speed ahead. The older Scouts stayed overnight at the camp Wednesday. One Elba troop leader noted that she spent the night, but definitely did not "sleep" during the course of the night. But the marathon "spend the night" party did have a few rewards for her—she has an entire new batch of jokes to entertain with now.

FINAL TOUCHES—Tonya Bryan carefully adds a few final strokes of paint to the dough ornaments she made during last week's Girl Scout camp. Tonya was one of more than 100 girls from Elba and Enterprise who retreated to Humming Hills.

A FEW MINUTES OF REST—Faye Kyle and Fran Chesser found a few minutes to sit down Friday morning but at the same time were able to lend a hand to Junior Scouts finishing the tails for their kites. Mrs. Chesser, field director, said it was easy to distinguish her leaders from the Scouts by the last day—the leaders were the ones with half-closed eyes and dragging feet.

FUN IN THE LAKE—As temperatures approached 100 degrees last week, campers welcomed the hours they were scheduled for activities at the lake. Karen Hancock (far left) of Enterprise served as the canoe instructor this year and was assisted by Fran Chesser and Cheri Rhodes (back canoe). The Scouts learned correct techniques of paddling and also how to successfully recover from an overturned canoe.

MAKING WIND CHIMES—Brownie campers try their skills at fashioning wind chimes from plastic lids, string, and multi-colored clothes pins.

RAISING OLD GLORY—A team of Junior Scouts learn the correct techniques of raising the American flag during the final day of camp at Humming Hills. Each morning, the campers gathered around the flagpole for prayer and to salute the flag before scattering throughout the campsite. The scouting organization focuses on patriotism and good citizenship for its members.

The Squeeze

It is easy to see the profit squeeze in farming today. It is illustrated by the proportion that farm production expenses take of cash receipts from marketings. Until 1976 average farm production expenses in this county took 88 percent or less of cash receipts. Since 1976 it has required 90 percent or more of cash receipts to cover production expenses. This is an average for the United States. Sometimes in this area sales are not enough to cover expenses.

The squeeze has led to expansion of farm production on individual farms through added acreages. Land prices have increased. Potential purchases of farm land by farmers include those with income from non-farm sources. A lot of times these individuals can out bid those with income from farm sources only. Upward price pressure is created on farm land.

The last two or three years interest expenses have increased greatly. But there are many other production costs which continue to go up. So the squeeze remains.

Interesting Facts

In the last 60 seconds 164 people have been born in the United States. World demand for agricultural products in the last 60 seconds has increased by 1240 bushels of corn; 690 bushels of wheat; 690 bushels of rice; 200 bushels of soybeans; 6 steers; 23 hogs; 765 chickens; 1150 pounds of cotton and 490 pounds of lamb.

Dairy Month

June is Dairy Month all over the United States. This month has been observed for about 40 years or longer as the time to emphasize the importance of this extremely high quality food. We have several dairymen in Coffee County who produce milk. Did you know that milk is an excellent buy an excellent buy even though the price is considerably more than what it was two or three years ago?

Most restaurants will get 30-50 cents for ice tea, coffee or soft drinks. Even though these drinks are good, they have practically no nutritional value. However, milk, whether served at home or in a restaurant, provides excellent nutrition.

I have a great respect for the dairymen throughout the county, state, and nation. Anyone who can discipline himself to make the investment and then take care of those cows 24 hours a day, 7 days a week deserves a lot of credit. I hope that a lot of our people will take year round advantage of the excellent buys available in milk produced here in this county.

Safety

William Hanford, director of the National Farm Safety Council, said recently, "Those gadgets at the ends of your arms are the finest precision instruments in the world, but some people treat their hands much too carelessly. A concept planist insures his hands for a million dollars, or more and takes almost fanatic care of them."

Farm accident surveys show that hands are the most frequently injured part of the body. Farmers and other workers must take it upon themselves to keep their hands safely away from moving parts. It is extremely important for farmers not to wear gloves when they must work near moving parts. A glove can be easily caught in moving machinery and pull the fingers and hand into the machine.

National Farm Safety Week is coming up July 25-31. Let's be extremely careful as we work around the farm!

Catfish Fingertings

We have a local supply of catfish fingerlings which are ready to be placed in ponds. A few weeks back there was a shortage of high quality fingerlings. I don't know exactly what the supply situation is now, but I can put you in touch with local people who are producing fingerlings. If you need help in locating fingerlings, call me at 894-5594. Elba telephone users can call 897-2776.

Quick and Easy

You don't need a passport to enjoy foods with a foreign flair. Some authentic dishes may require a shopping trip to an ethnic specialty store, but most recipes can be adapted for today's life-styles, and the ingredients may be right on your pantry shelf or in your refrigerator. If you fancy Italian flavor, try a quick and easy version of Risotto con Tonno. Bring 1 1/2 cups spaghetti sauce and 1 1/2 cups water to a boil in saucepan. Stir in 1 1/2 cups quick cooking rice and a can (7 oz.) tuna, drained and flaked. Remove from heat; cover and let stand 10 minutes. Packaged enriched precooked rice absorbs the tomato sauce flavor in this brief period and is an ideal companion for tuna. This recipe makes 4 servings and should be a welcome addition to your quick and easy repertoire.

Choose lean meat, fish, poultry, dry beans and peas as your source of protein. Trim excess fat off meats. Broil, bake or boil your food rather than fry it.

Use eggs and organ meats such as liver in moderation. Limit your intake of butter, cream, hydrogenated margarine, shortenings, coconut oil and food containing such products.

Form the habit of reading labels carefully to determine the amount and types of fat contained in the foods you buy.

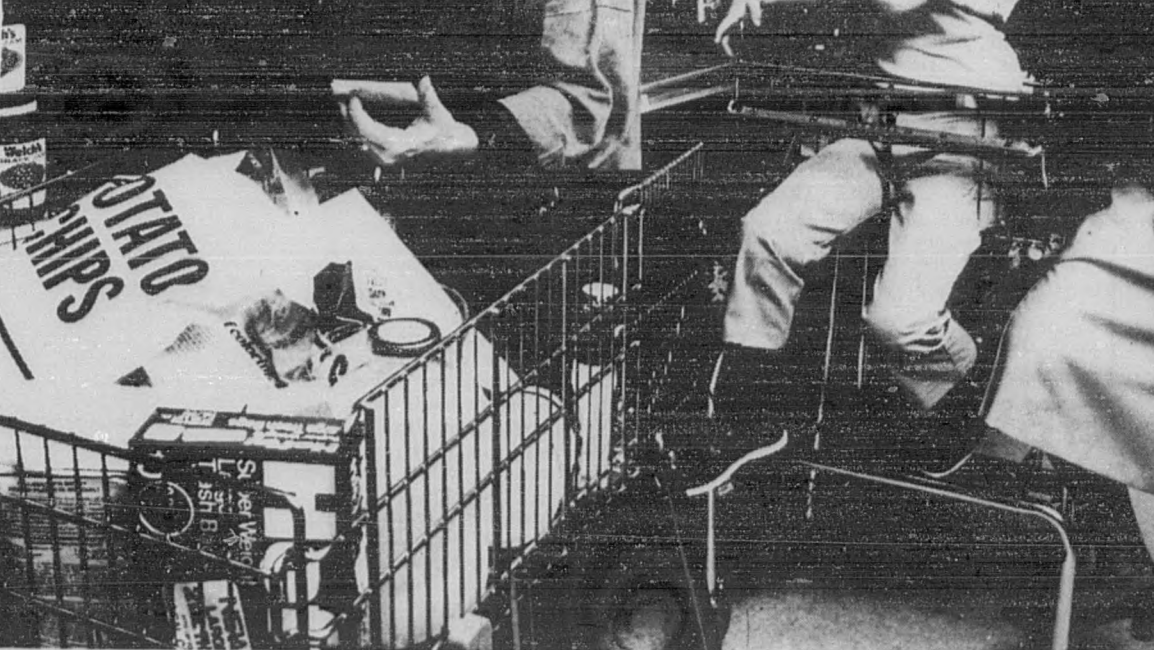

Sunglasses - Which Ones Are Best?

Most vision specialists recommend optically-ground lenses for sunglasses. These lenses protect the eyes from the harmful effects of the sun. They do this by reducing the ultraviolet and infrared rays entering the eyes.

Tints in grey or green families are the best color for the lenses. These colors interfere with color perception the least.

Water is basic to balanced nutrition. It helps in your digestive process to break up, soften, and transport food particles from your mouth through your intestines. Then your body's blood (which is approximately 90% water) circulates nutrients throughout your body.

According to the American Bottled Water Association, water controls body temperature through perspiration.

Will your yields keep up with peanut demand?

Peanut demand is way up. Experts say as much as 40% over last year. Which means this year you can't afford to lose a single pound to white mold.

That's why now it makes more sense than ever to use Terraclor soil fungicide + Dasanit. Because well-timed Terraclor + Dasanit applications control destructive white mold, certain nematodes, and southern corn root worm. And that can mean yield increases up to 20%.

So remember. With demand way up, your profits should be, too. Make sure with Terraclor soil fungicide. From Crop Protection Chemicals, Olin Corporation, P.O. Box 991, Little Rock, Arkansas 72203.
